From the Pastor's Pen

By Daryl Diddle

A Sure Bet

In this month's issue of Imprimis, (a newsletter published by Hillsdale College) First Things journal editor R. R. Reno speaks of the rather obvious movement of our society toward godlessness, noting the rise of the "Nones" (not "nuns") regarding religious affiliation. He lamentably cites several court cases and rather blatant legal arguments and movements, beginning in government and the elite circles of higher education, calling for less religion in general, and less religious influence and basis for standards in our laws.

It's an article very much worth your time. You can find it online at <http://www.hillsdale.edu/news/imprimis.asp>

However, much like the Christian life as a whole, the best part of the article is the end. Reno writes:

In conclusion, I want to focus not on fury but on the remarkable capacity for communities of faith to endure. My wife's ancestors lived for generations in the contested borderlands of Poland and Russia. As Jews they were tremendously vulnerable, and yet through their children and their children's children they endured in spite of discrimination, violence, and attempted genocide. Where now, I ask, are the Russian and Polish aristocrats who dominated them for centuries? Where now is the Thousand Year Reich? Where now is the Soviet worker's paradise? They have gone to dust. The Torah is still read in the synagogue.

The same holds for Christianity. The Church did not need constitutional protections in order to take root in a hostile pagan culture two thousand years ago.

Right now the "Nones" seem to have the upper hand in America. But what seems powerful is not always so. If I had to bet on Harvard or the Catholic Church, Yale or the Mennonites in Goshen, Indiana, the New York Times or yeshivas in Brooklyn, I wouldn't hesitate. Over the long haul, religious faith has proven itself the most powerful and enduring force in human history.¹

He's right...the "Nones" don't have it and won't have it, in the long run. In light of the news, we need this reminder from time to time.

Through the ages, many, many people, with what they've thought were "better" ideas, have tried to stamp out faith, and they all have this one thing in common: they've all failed. Brothers and sisters, take heart. Faith, and the community of faith, will stand, even when its future seems imperiled, and in the end, it will win.

Of this we can be sure: in the end, Christ, and those who follow Him, will endure.

Prayer and Fasting

By Margaret Dargan

In the Old and New Testaments fasting was a way to humble oneself before God.

Joel 2:12 “Even now,” declares the Lord, “return to me with all your heart, with fasting and weeping and mourning.”

Many times in the Old Testament, the people were instructed to proclaim a fast and petition God for their needs.

People of God and the temple in disgrace:

Nehemiah 1: 3-4, “They said to me, ‘Those who survived the exile and are back in the province are in great trouble and disgrace. The wall of Jerusalem is broken down, and its gates have been burned with fire.’ When I heard these things, I sat down and wept. For some days I mourned and fasted and prayed before the God of heaven.”

Ezra 8: 21-23, “There, by the Ahava Canal, I proclaimed a fast, so that we might humble ourselves before our God and ask Him for a safe journey for us and our children, with all our possessions. I was ashamed to ask the king for soldiers and horsemen to protect us from enemies on the road, because we had told the king, ‘The gracious hand of our God is on everyone who looks to Him, but his great anger is against all who forsake Him.’ So we fasted and petitioned our God about this, and He answered our prayer.”

Matthew 6:16, “When you fast, do not look somber as the hypocrites do, for they disfigure their faces to show men they are fasting. I tell you the truth, they have received their reward in full. But when you fast, put oil on your head and wash your face, so that it will not be obvious to men that you are fasting, but only to your Father, who is unseen; and your Father, who sees what is done in secret, will reward you.”

Demons cast out:

Matthew 17:20-21, “He replied, ‘Because you have so little faith. I tell you the truth, if you have faith as small as a mustard seed, you can say to this mountain, ‘Move from here to there’ and it will move. Nothing will be impossible for you. But this kind does not go out except by prayer and fasting.’”

Mark 9:29 (Same incident.) “Jesus replied, ‘This kind can come out only by prayer and fasting.’”

Jesus temptation:

Matthew 4:2 Jesus fasted 40 days in the wilderness.

Calling and sending out missionaries:

Acts 13:2-3, “While they were worshipping the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, ‘Set apart for me Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.’ So after they had fasted and prayed, they placed their hands on them and sent them off.”

Early church leaders:

John and Charles Wesley regularly fasted and prayed.

John Wesley believed it so firmly that he required all of those who wanted to be ordained to fast Wednesdays and Fridays or he would not ordain them.

Why fast?

1. It's Biblical.
2. It's humbling.
3. It can transform prayer.
4. It helps us to be more determined in our praying.
5. It renews spiritual vision and faith.
6. It helps us understand the Word of God.
7. It can help restore our love for God.
8. It yields a brokenness before the Lord.
9. It helps one to be willing to obey God's leading.
10. It helps us to focus on God

Consider this...

Formed by the Word

Mark 1:30-31a (NASB)

Now Simon's mother-in-law was lying sick with a fever; and immediately they spoke to Jesus about her. And He came to her and raised her up...

...and I learned that simply talking with Jesus – not always with strong emotion or intensity, but just talking with Him - was enough for Him to respond and provide needed help.

Hebrews 9:11-12 (NASB)

But when Christ ...entered through the greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this creation; and not through the blood of goats and calves, but through His own blood, He entered the holy place once for all, having obtained eternal redemption....

...and I learned that LIFE is bigger than, and “other” than, this entire cosmic creation; and that a greater reality exists far beyond my life experiences and all I could think,...and my mind and imagination grew.

Proverbs 16:4 (NASB)

The LORD has made everything for its own purpose

...and I learned when I questioned myself and my worth, that He has a purpose for me.

Where has the Scripture spoken into your heart and mind and imagination?

Choosing Well

Ecclesiastes 3:1, 11

There is an appointed time for everything. And there is a time for every event under heaven— He has made everything appropriate in its time.

From an overburdened “to do” list, to exciting new cyberspace and technological programs and toys, to friendships to foster and build, to ...what's on your list? Time seems so limited for the multitude of possible ways it could be managed, then invested.

I ask myself, “What on my ‘to do’ list, is a ‘must do’?”

I want to know God, to become like Him, to make Him known. I choose to follow the calling He's put in my heart. I want to love and build up the people in my life.

What price am I willing to pay to carve out time to walk out of my heart's values? What am I willing to let go? What loss am I willing to suffer?

These are valuable, profound, difficult questions. Answer them carefully and prayerfully?

Book Reviews

Prickle Says I'm Sorry by Lisa Wilkinson

Prickle says to all her friends, "Nobody likes them." But, then she goes to their house and says, "I'm sorry." Everyone feels better. I like this book!

Reviewed by Keturah Lovell, age 8 years

The Long Winter by Laura Ingalls Wilder.

This book is historical fiction, set in the town of De Smet in the severe winter of 1880-1881.

The town is hit by screaming, howling blizzards usually with only a day in between them. Soon the houses are covered in snow and everybody must ration their food to survive. The trains will not come until the warm spring weather arrives. The town is running out of food and the stores have been empty for weeks. Finally Almonzo realizes what he has to do, even if it means his life.

In this book my favorite character is Mary. She is always patient and willing to do what she has to for the family. She is always offering to let them use her college money for food and coal.

I like this book because it's easy to read, it's not terribly long, and the plot is fun and exciting.

Kevin and Joanna Crabtree Alayna and Gwendolyn

The Crabtree family began attending WFMC in late spring of 2010, after Joanna attended the Mom-to-Mom group at the invitation of a friend. They checked out the church, and soon became regulars.

Kevin grew up in Madison, IN, and Joanna in Massachusetts. Both were the first in their families to become Christians, Joanna through the ministry of Young Life in high school and a youth pastor at church. Kevin found Christ through a local church where he started going to Sunday school during middle school.

They met on their first day at Asbury University, became best friends, did ministries together but skipped "dating" – and became engaged in their senior year. They were married in Wilmore on May 8, one day before graduation.

Getting to Know You By Shirley McMillan

Kevin teaches math at the Providence School, where he has been for nine years. Before the births of their children, Joanna was a children's therapist and special education teacher. Alayna, age 5 ½, is in kindergarten at the Early Learning Village, and Gwendolyn, age 3, is a pre-schooler. Their third daughter, Lydia Ann, was born in January 2012 and lived for 27 days.

"The last year," says Joanna, "experiencing Lydia Ann's life and death, has taught us so much about God's grace and love. We got to see a side of the body of Christ that we didn't know before. Through immense pain, He is still the God who redeems, and He will redeem the tragedy. We are in a beautiful place with Christ, one of rebuilding and healing."

"The most influential person in our lives is Jesus," she says. Other people of influence were her youth pastor, Christian role models and godly professors at Asbury, the women of Mom-to-Moms, and women in the Tuesday morning prayer group she attends.

Alayna and Gwendolyn enjoy Sunday school and Christian Life Club. Kevin and Joanna are active in the Home Builders ABF and help with Children's Worship Junior.

As a family, they enjoy reading, taking walks, car trips, movies, parties, cooking and crafts.
